General Information

COURSE DESCRIPTION

The management of melanoma has undergone a rapid and massive shift in the past decade. Improvements in diagnosis, classification, and treatment have contributed to improving outcomes in patients. However, the rapid improvement also places great strain on clinicians who must remain updated with the latest data supporting new diagnostic and therapeutic methods.

This meeting will serve as a valuable forum for the presentation and discussion of newly available data. Participants will be provided with an update on practice-changing data in a practical and interactive format, fostering discussion and impacting clinical outcomes for patients with melanoma and non-melanoma skin cancer.

TARGET AUDIENCE

This activity is specifically designed to meet the needs of dermatologists, medical, surgical, and radiation oncologists, hematologists, residents, fellows, advanced practice providers, nurses, and pharmacists.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

After successful completion of this educational activity, participants should be able to:

- Identify recent advances and current status of neoadjuvant and adjuvant treatment of melanoma
- Discuss recent advances in surgical management of the nodal basin in melanoma
- Describe pathologic evaluation of pigmented lesions and regional lymph nodes, including evaluation of nodes after neoadjuvant treatment
- Discuss new insights into melanoma and detection and prevention
- Discuss current approaches to management of non-melanoma skin cancers
- Describe approaches to treatment of anti-PD-1 refractory melanoma
- Describe recent approaches to multidisciplinary management of Merkel cell carcinoma

SYMPOSIUM LOCATION AND LODGING

The conference will be held at Emory Conference Center and Hotel 1615 Clifton Road, Atlanta, GA 30329.
